Dear Grand County Commission:

The Utah State Library is writing to recognize the Grand County Public Library's service to your community during the COVID-19 pandemic by awarding them the "Impactful Service" award.

The State Library examined and scored eight areas of service in which the library made additional efforts in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. Your local library scored highly and we commend them for adapting library services to remain available. Their actions allowed community members to safely access the internet, reading materials, educational and entertaining programs, and more even when many entities were shut down. Internet access in particular proved to be necessary during the pandemic.

We recognize the key role your library played to support the community in the pandemic and wanted to share their achievement with you. Their actions truly were impactful and we applaud your library director and staff for their exceptional work.

All of our congratulations,

Chaundra Johnson, State Librarian
